Strategy

 Useful structures:

Introduction	• Living would be a rather tedious affair if we didn't have any important and memorable events in our life once in a while. Thankfully, I have also had a number of such memorable events in my life, and I will go ahead and share ..(instruction)../, which is ..(event)../ • Life is full of many, many events. While we tend to forget most of these events, some of them do stick to our memories because of their profound meanings and values to us. Anyway, I would like to talk about(event)../, which I still remember vividly.
Story – When	• It was about ... ago when I had just finished high school while still living with my parents in my hometown. • It all happened about from now when I had just started high school/college/ university. • The event occurred during, back in the spring of ...(year)...
Story – What happened	• Follow the timeline: Before – During – After • Using time-order words/phrases - At first/ To start with/ Initially/ First of all - Next/ As soon as/ Straight away/ Afterwards / Following on from that - Finally/ At the end/ Eventually
Opinion - Feelings	• Looking back, those moments are cherished memories that I hold near and dear in my heart. • For me, it was a truly (unforgettable/ remarkable/ memorable/ horrible) experience for me to go through.
Opinion – Lessons learned	• This experience taught me to ... • It was a rewarding experience and I learned a lot • I realized that “Everything happened for a reason” and I indeed learned a lot from this event. I am now much more when it comes to similar situations.
